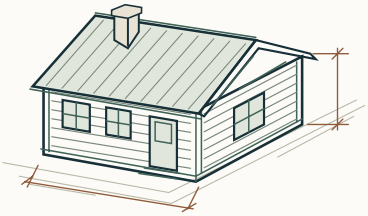
AGREEMENTS / BLANK TEMPLATE

Residential property service agreement



Agree on a single visit for household cleaning, garage organization or ordinary property upkeep.

TEMPLATE VERSION
2026-11-24.1

COMPLETED BY
Client and Avalon

For remote acceptance. Verify legal identity, authority, contact details, capacity, prices, taxes and dates before issuing. The service listing or visit request alone does not authorize work. Use the separate direct-sales process if the transaction was negotiated or concluded in person away from the supplier's business.

Terms and instructions

01 Who is supplying the work

The legal supplier entered above trades as Avalon Property Care and Management (“Avalon”). Its business and notice address is 34 Palmerston Drive, Paradise, NL A1L 3A1. Telephone +1 (709) 765-3536. The client and supplier representatives confirm that they can enter this agreement for the parties they name.

02 Care inside the home

The crew will work only in the listed areas using the agreed products. The client identifies delicate materials, valuables and pet arrangements. The crew will leave uncertain items in place and ask before moving, donating or disposing of them.

03 One visit

The client and Avalon will review the agreed checklist at handover or arrange a remote report. Structural repairs, hazardous waste and specialist remediation require a separately authorized scope and suitable provider.

04 Price and changes

All amounts are in Canadian dollars. Avalon bills the accepted fixed price or the actual units at the listed rates, within the stated limit. A deposit is credited against the amount due. An extra visit, material, fee or price increase needs the client's approval of the cost and timing before the extra work begins. No financing, security interest or trade-in forms part of this offer.

05 Entry, safety and records

The client arranges lawful access for the agreed work. Avalon will pause and contact the site representative if access, permissions or conditions prevent safe work. Both parties will protect keys and personal information. Work photos require appropriate permission, serve the agreed report and must avoid identifying occupants or their possessions unnecessarily. Public or promotional use requires separate permission.

06 Handover, damage and concerns

Avalon will identify completed tasks, exceptions and any remaining work at handover. Report a concern to the supplier email, phone or mailing address and include the agreement reference if available. Avalon will review the record with the client and discuss correction, a credit or another appropriate remedy. Each party remains responsible under applicable law for loss it causes. A visit log or payment does not waive a claim or a statutory remedy.

07 Rescheduling, ending work and refunds

Either party may request a new date or end future work by notifying the other. Avalon will offer a revised schedule if weather, access or safety interrupts a visit. Outside a statutory cancellation, the client owes only properly performed work and actual, nonrecoverable costs expressly approved in advance. Avalon will account for them and return the unused balance. No charge accrues for a missed visit merely because it was on the calendar.

08 Consumer rights on a distance sale

A household consumer may cancel within 10 days of receiving the copy if the electronic review or contract-copy requirements were not met. If Avalon misses the 15-day copy deadline, the consumer may cancel within 30 days of agreement. A consumer may also cancel before delivery if service is over 30 days late against the supply date, or against the agreement date if no supply date was set. Give notice to the supplier. A qualifying statutory cancellation requires a full refund within 15 days. Other rights remain available under provincial law.

09 Review, signatures and your copy

Review and save or print the terms and all amounts. You can decline or ask Avalon for a corrected version before signing. The supplier's offer becomes an agreement when the authorized client accepts it. The date and signatures are recorded with this version. A paper-signing option is available by contacting Avalon. The supplier will provide the completed copy by the agreed method, within 15 days for a consumer distance contract.
